SoME1 – Winners with Jeff Haag

SoME1 is the first iteration of a contest called Summer of Math Exposition, organized by James Schloss and Grant Sanderson over summer 2021. Their motivation was "to encourage more people to put out explainers of math online".

They accepted videos, blog posts, interactive games, and more, and eventually settled on 5 winners. But as they explain, they received hundreds of entries that were worthy of recognition. They collected them all and made them publicly available. Everybody wins.

In this session we'll look at a few of the award winning entries.
